The Prince's Mistress, Perdita Hester Davenport, 2011-10-21 Mary Robinson nicknamed Perdita by the Prince of Wales after her role on the London stage was a woman in whom showmanship and reckless behaviour contrasted with romantic sensibility and radical thinking Born in Bristol in 1758 she moved to London with her family at a young age and was trained by Garrick for the theatre After a royal command performance as Perdita in The Winter's Tale she was hotly pursued by George the 17 year old Prince of Wales and she became his first mistress He gave her GBP 20 000 a house in Berkeley Square and another in Old Windsor the popular press followed the affair with glee and gusto But when he left her she blackmailed him for the return of his letters A string of other high profile lovers followed including Lord Malden Charles James Fox and most notably Lt Col Tarlton However a miscarriage left Mary semi paralysed and when her last lover deserted her to marry someone else she wrote two novels in revenge Her growing literary reputation brought in many friends including Coleridge but her death saw the bailiffs trying to evict her from her cottage This lively account of one of the most extraordinary women of her age is set against the social literary political and military background of the times Memoirs

Fawcett,2016-03-04 A look at England's larger than life figures in the 18th century shines a spotlight on contemporary celebrity British Women's Life Writing, 1760-1840 A. Culley,2014-07-22 British Women's Life Writing 1760 1840 brings together for the first time a wide range of print and manuscript sources to demonstrate women's innovative approach to self representation It examines canonical writers such as Mary Wollstonecraft Mary Robinson and Helen Maria Williams amongst others Romantic Autobiography in England Eugene Stelzig,2016-04-08 Taking into account the popularity and variety of the genre this collaborative volume considers a wide range of English Romantic autobiographical writers and modes including working class autobiography the familiar essay and the staged presence In the wake of Rousseau's Confessions autobiography became an increasingly popular as well as a literary mode of writing By the early nineteenth century this hybrid and metamorphic genre is found everywhere in English letters in prose and poetry by men and women of all classes As such it resists attempts to provide a coherent historical account or establish a neat theoretical paradigm The contributors to Romantic Autobiography in England embrace the challenge focusing not only on major writers such as William Wordsworth De Quincey and Mary Shelley but on more recent additions to the canon such as Mary Robinson Dorothy Wordsworth and Mary Hays There are also essays on the scandalous Memoirs of Mrs Billington and on Joseph Severn s autobiographical scripting of himself as the friend of Keats The result is an exploratory and provisional mapping of the field provocative rather than exhaustive intended to inspire future scholarship and teaching

The Works of Mary Robinson, Part II vol 8 William D Brewer,Hester Davenport,Julia A Shaffer,2020-03-24 Regularly the subject of cartoonists and satirical novelists Mary Robinson achieved public notoriety as the mistress of the young Prince of Wales George IV Her association with figures such as William Godwin and Mary Wollstonecraft and comparisons with Charlotte Smith make her a serious figure for scholarly research

Mesmerism, Medusa, and the Muse Anne DeLong,2012-04-26 Mesmerism Medusa and the Muse The Romantic Discourse of Spontaneous Creativity explores the connections among the Romantic discourse of spontaneous literary creativity the nineteenth century cultural practice of mesmerism and the mythical Medusa as an icon of the gendered gaze An analysis of Medusan mesmerism in the poetry of Mary Robinson Samuel Taylor Coleridge Percy Bysshe Shelley and Letitia Elizabeth Landon L E L and the prose of Mary Shelley reveals that these Romantic era writers equate the enraptured state that produces spontaneous literary creation with the mesmeric trance These writers employ Medusan imagery to portray both the mesmerist and the mesmerized subject a conflation of subject object positions that complicates issues of agency subjectivity and gender Images of Medusan mesmerism ultimately work to deconstruct Romantic ideological dichotomies of self other female male muse artist and sublime beautiful In contrast to a traditional masculinized Romantic discourse that emphasizes self possession this study uncovers a feminized improvisational Romantic discourse characterized Other possession an assumption of the mesmerized subject position that enhances subjective fluidity This study interrogates the Romantic discourse of spontaneous literary creativity through an examination of Romantic poetry prose and theory that utilizes mesmeric and Medusan metaphors to suggest creative inspiration Building on recent scholarship about improvisational poetics the subversive potential of mesmerism and Medusa as a feminist icon this work suggests that the mesmeric Medusan muse not only enables creativity for women writers but also provides a mirror in which they view and through which they give voice to their own societal oppression The mesmeric Medusan muse in Romantic era literature from the Ancient Mariner and the Frankenstein monster to the tragic abandoned Sapphic poetess often represents the face of oppression an unwelcome and monstrous truth in nineteenth century British society For women writers in particular braving the stare of the Medusan muse enhances empathy and therefore inspiration and literary productivity

The Routledge Companion to Romantic Women Writers Ann R. Hawkins,Catherine S. Blackwell,E. Leigh Bonds,2022-12-30 The Routledge

Companion to Romantic Women Writers overviews critical reception for Romantic women writers from their earliest periodical reviews through the most current scholarship and directs users to avenues of future research. It is divided into two parts. The first section offers topical discussions on the status of provincial poets, on women's engagement in children's literature, the relation of women writers to their religious backgrounds, the historical backgrounds to women's orientalism, and their engagement in debates on slavery and abolition. The second part surveys the life and careers of individual women, some 47 in all, with sections for biography, biographical resources, works, modern editions, archival holdings, critical reception, and avenues for further research. The final sections of each essay offer further guidance for researchers, including Signatures under which the author published and a List of Works accompanied whenever possible with contemporary prices and publishing formats. To facilitate research, a robust Works Cited includes all texts mentioned or quoted in the essay.

Nineteenth-Century Women's Writing in Wales Jane Aaron, 2010-02-15. The first volume in the new series Gender Studies in Wales, this book argues that the way in which people came to perceive and to represent themselves as Welsh was profoundly affected by the gender ideologies prevalent during the Romantic and Victorian periods. Nineteenth Century Women's Writing in Wales Nation Gender and Identity introduces readers to a hundred Welsh women authors at work during the years 1780-1900, some writing in Welsh and some in English. In so doing, it rescues many of these authors from critical neglect and oblivion. In the second half of the nineteenth century, in particular, Welsh women writers in both languages were numerous and enjoyed a degree of influence on Welsh culture easily commensurate with that of women writers today. By covering the nineteenth century chronologically, this book traces the coming into being of the Welsh nation as its women in particular saw it and as they helped to create it.

Romantic Autobiography in England Professor Eugene Stelzig, 2013-04-28. Taking into account the popularity and variety of the genre, this collaborative volume considers a wide range of English Romantic autobiographical writers and modes, including working class autobiography, the familiar essay, and the staged presence. In the wake of Rousseau's Confessions, autobiography became an increasingly popular as well as a literary mode of writing. By the early nineteenth century, this hybrid and metamorphic genre is found everywhere in English letters, in prose and poetry, by men and women of all classes. As such, it resists attempts to provide a coherent historical account or establish a neat theoretical paradigm. The contributors to Romantic Autobiography in England embrace the challenge, focusing not only on major writers such as William Wordsworth, De Quincey, and Mary Shelley, but on more recent additions to the canon such as Mary Robinson, Dorothy Wordsworth, and Mary Hays. There are also essays on the scandalous Memoirs of Mrs. Billington and on Joseph Severn's autobiographical scripting of himself as the friend of Keats. The result is an exploratory and provisional mapping of the field, provocative rather than exhaustive, intended to inspire future scholarship and teaching.
