Tools and Modes of Representation in the Laboratory Sciences U. Klein, 2013-04-17 constitutive of reference in laboratory sciences as cultural sign systems and their manipulation and superposition collectively shared classifications and associated conceptual frameworks and various forms of collective action and social institutions This raises the question of how much modes of representation and specific types of sign systems mobilized to construct them contribute to reference Semioticians have argued that sign systems are not merely passive media for expressing preconceived ideas but actively contribute to meaning Sign systems are culturally loaded with meaning stemming from previous practical applications and social traditions of applications In new local contexts of application they not only transfer stabilized meaning but also can be used as active resources to add new significance and modify previous meaning This view is supported by several analyses presented in this volume Sign systems can be implemented like tools that are manipulated and superposed with other types of signs to forge new representations The mode of representation made possible by applying and manipulating specific types of representational tools such as diagrammatic rather than mathematical representations or Berzelian formulas rather than verbal language contributes to meaning and forges fine grained differentiations between scientists concepts Taken together the essays contained in this volume give us a multifaceted picture of the broad variety of modes of representation in nineteenth century and twentieth century laboratory sciences of the way scientists juxtaposed and integrated various representations and of their pragmatic use as tools in scientific and industrial practice Exploring the

World of Chemistry John Hudson Tiner, 2001-09-01 Chemistry is an amazing branch of science that affects us every day yet few people realize it or even give it much thought Without chemistry there would be nothing made of plastic there would be no rubber tires no tin cans no television no microwave ovens or something as simple as wax paper This book presents an exciting and intriguing tour through the realm of chemistry as each chapter unfolds with facts and stories about the discoveries and discoverers Find out why pure gold is not used for jewelry or coins Join Humphry Davy as he made many chemical discoveries and learn how they shortened his life See how people in the 1870s could jump over the top of the Washington Monument Exploring the World of Chemistry brings science to life and is a wonderful learning tool with many illustrations biographical information chapter tests and an index for easy referencing Perceptions of Knowledge
