to what and why they are buying and from whom While many feel rampant spending is hard wired into the modern psyche and that we will be back to our wasteful ways soon enough there are clear indications of a permanent shift in the way we shop Even before the economic downturn consumers definitions of value had begun to change People were becoming more mindful about their purchases and more attuned to the social and environmental implications of their choices To better understand this important evolution and its ramifications for business Andrew Benett and Anne O Reilly launched a groundbreaking study on the New Consumer and the escalating dissatisfaction over hyperconsumerism Here for the first time is an in depth look at the new face of the global consumer showing that A significant majority in the seven markets surveyed are deeply worried about the direction in which our consumption obsessed society is moving They believe people have become both physically and mentally lazy and that as a society we have lost sight of what truly matters Two thirds believe they would be better off if they lived more simply and a quarter say they would be happier if they owned fewer things Half of Americans surveyed are deriving a sense of satisfaction from reducing their purchases during the downturn and three quarters are feeling good about cutting back on the amount of waste they create A majority of Americans have no intention of going back to their old shopping patterns even when the economy rebounds Now as the consumer voice signals its changed priorities forward thinking companies are responding by rejecting excess and artificiality in favor of products and communications that offer authenticity substance and interconnectedness all values today s more mindful consumer craves In this book the brand experts look at corporations as diverse as Glenmorangie and Wal Mart to see what lessons they can offer to businesses attempting to grow in the postconsumerism era They also spoke with corporate leaders in a variety of industries to learn how they are recasting their businesses and brands in order to prepare for the changes ahead Through cutting edge research and a sharp look at new industry models Consumed provides real direction for marketers and managers

Lightweight Systems MOBILIGHT was held in Barcelona Spain on May 10 12 2010 It was not an easy decision to carry on organizing a scientific event on wireless communications where competition is really enormous This decision was motivated by discussion with many colleagues about the current unprecedented demand for light weight wireless communication devices with high usability and performance able to support added value services in a highly mobile environment Such devices follow the users everywhere they go at work at home while travelling in a classroom etc and result in exciting research development and business opportunities Such scenarios clearly demand significant upgrades to the existing communication paradigm in terms of infrastructure devices and services to support the anytime anywhere any device philosophy providing novel and fast evolving requirements and expectations on search and development in the field of information and communication technologies The core issue is to support wireless users desire for 24 7 network availability and transparent access to their own services In this context we continue to envision an international forum where practitioners and researchers coming from the many areas involved in lightweight wireless systems design and deployment would be able to interact and exchange experiences
