Best Practices in Planning Strategically for Online Educational Programs Elliot King, Neil Alperstein, 2017-11-22

Best Practices in Planning Strategically for Online Educational Programs is a step by step guide to developing strategic plans for creating and implementing online educational programs within higher education institutions From conception to execution and assessment the successful management of purposeful online educational programs in colleges and universities carries increasing importance and a unique set of requirements This book enables administrators and faculty to identify the opportunities and challenges presented by online education for institutions based on their histories missions and market positions develop a roadmap for creating and implementing a strategic plan provide guidance for assessing the plan and insight into the iterative nature of planning With computer networked based technologies gaining ground in traditional private and public institutions this critical volume is the first to apply the principles and practices associated with strategic planning specifically to online educational programs

Handbook of Research on Student-Centered Strategies in Online Adult Learning Environments Fitzgerald, Carlton J., Laurian-Fitzgerald, Simona, Popa, Carmen, 2018-06-08 As traditional classroom settings are transitioning to online environments teachers now face the challenge of using this medium to promote effective learning strategies especially when teaching older age groups Because adult learners bring a different set of understandings and skills to education than younger students such as more job and life experiences the one size fits all approach to teaching does not work thus pushing educators to create a student centered approach for each learner The Handbook of Research on Student Centered Strategies in Online Adult Learning Environments is an important resource providing readers with multiple perspectives to approach issues often associated with adult learners in an online environment This publication highlights current research on topics including but not limited to online competency based education nontraditional adult learners virtual classrooms in public universities and teacher training for online education This book is a vital reference for online trainers adult educators university administrators researchers and other academic professionals looking for emerging information on utilizing online classrooms and environments in student centered adult education

Forest and Stream, 1903 Our Cherished Halls of Ivy Phillip L. Beukema, 2022-10-10 Higher education has both supporters and detractors although not in equal numbers Some would have us believe that our higher education enterprise is on the brink of disaster that it s falling apart at the seams Some go so far as to call the system broken beyond repair suggesting that it be rebuilt from the ground up Can it be this bad Drawing on his long experience in higher ed administration the author examines the sea change that s affected nearly every corner of the higher learning landscape These corners include the high and rising costs of tuition the crushing levels of student debt the shamefully low graduation rates in too many schools the growing million dollar clubs whose members include university presidents and football and basketball coaches the inadequacies of accreditation and the growing influence of partisan politics in the conduct of our public universities That s for starters With an insider s perspective the author paints a picture that is up front and honest laying bare the depth and extent of specific problems confronting that crucial engine of our economy higher education In each case he spells out what needs a tune up and what needs something closer to an overhaul Of course he offers specific proposals for fixing those problems They re likely to be controversial but the author hopes they spark a debate that ultimately leads to productive solutions

Second Class No Longer Phillip L. Beukema,2023-10-19 No one could have predicted thirty years ago that online learning would become such a key facet of our educational landscape in nearly every corner of the world Online teaching and learning have evolved rapidly and far more widely than imaginable accompanied by huge impacts on business society and our entire educational enterprise Drawing on his extensive experience in online teaching at both the graduate and undergraduate level as well as his 25 years in higher ed administration the author paints a global picture of the evolution of online education He describes how one country after another has witnessed the astonishing growth of online degrees and microcredentials of all kinds Along the way he dispels the myths and misperceptions that have grown up around online learning With incisive analysis built on solid data the author demonstrates that online programs are no longer regarded as second class but in fact are fully in the mainstream of higher education Not only that but he predicts that by 2030 they will become the gold standard by which the more traditional degrees will be judged Newsweek ,2006

Higher Education at Risk Sandra Featherman,2023-07-03 Sandra Featherman believes that colleges are in denial about the severity of the threats to the current model of higher education Based on her own experience as a president as a trustee and as a board member who has worked in private and public universities and on interviews with the presidents of major institutions she offers both a trenchant analysis of those threats and clear prescriptions about the painful but necessary decisions that colleges need to make to ensure they remain viable accessible and affordable and deliver a high quality education Sandra Featherman considers higher education to be at a game changing moment When markets don t function well as is the case with today s college marketplace with offerings that cost too much and return too little it opens the door to new types of suppliers who offer new ways of providing what students are looking for particularly the increasing cohort of mature working students In the face of new competitors for profit education companies technology start ups and foreign universities vying for international students trustees and senior level administrators are generally stuck in a traditional ethos and with decision making processes unsuited to these times They know what used to work and find it easier to follow old ways than to make the difficult transition to new ways of delivering education She lays out a strategy that emphasizes the centrality of students and how to provide them with the most effective learning environment that is clear eyed about focusing on the core missions and abandoning practices that constrain or impede them and that requires constant self monitoring to learn from and act upon what works She offers a blueprint for redesigning institutions for paring away what is unnecessary and cost ineffective and for adopting the best technologies all in the service of developing meaningful degree programs at an affordable price and widening access for under represented groups She ranges over the implications of budget decisions accreditation and MOOCs addresses government regulation and tuition costs presents promising new models and concludes with 11 key recommendations that should be heeded by all higher education administrators and trustees America's Best Colleges ,2006 Creating a Place for Adult Learners in Higher Education Amy D. Rose,Jovita M. Ross-Gordon,Carol E. Kasworm,2023-12-29 Creating a Place for Adult Learners in Higher Education offers deep insights into how to attract teach support and retain students over the age of 25 an important yet often overlooked student group Comprehensive in scope this book covers all the main aspects of adult students relationships with higher education institutions recruitment admissions and financing course and program provision and teaching approaches and student support retention and completion The discussion is bolstered by chapters of analysis on adult student demographics including both diversities and commonalities exploration of leadership challenges and discussion of measurements of success Drawing from the most up to date research as well as practical experience and descriptions of best practices by programs historically serving adults the authors provide a broad set of strategies and recommendations to place adult students at the center of the educational process Higher education leaders practitioners and administrators will find this book an invaluable resource as they seek to better account for and support this key student group which now comprises approximately 30% of the US undergraduate population
