Red Book ,1973 Death and Social Order in Tokugawa Japan Nam-lin Hur,2020-03-23 Buddhism was a fact of life and death during the Tokugawa period 1600 1868 every household was expected to be affiliated with a Buddhist temple and every citizen had to be given a Buddhist funeral The enduring relationship between temples and their affiliated households gave rise to the danka system of funerary patronage This private custom became a public institution when the Tokugawa shogunate discovered an effective means by which to control the populace and prevent the spread of ideologies potentially dangerous to its power especially Christianity Despite its lack of legal status the danka system was applied to the entire population without exception it became for the government a potent tool of social order and for the Buddhist establishment a practical way to ensure its survival within the socioeconomic context of early modern Japan In this study Nam lin Hur follows the historical development of the danka system and details the intricate interplay of social forces political concerns and religious beliefs that drove this economy of death and buttressed the Tokugawa governing system With meticulous research and careful analysis Hur demonstrates how Buddhist death left its mark firmly upon the world of the Tokugawa Japanese

Social Media in Emergent Brazil Juliano Spyer, 2017-10-23 Since the popularisation of the internet low income Brazilians have received little government support to help them access it In response they have largely self financed their digital migration Internet caf s became prosperous businesses in working class neighbourhoods and rural settlements and more recently families have aspired to buy their own home computer with hire purchase agreements As low income Brazilians began to access popular social media sites in the mid 2000s affluent Brazilians ridiculed their limited technological skills different tastes and poor schooling but this did not deter them from expanding their online presence Young people created profiles for barely literate older relatives and taught them to navigate platforms such as Facebook and WhatsApp
