

A woman with long, flowing blonde hair, wearing a black and white patterned dress with a fur collar and skull earrings, stands in a mystical, dark environment. She is surrounded by glowing blue flames in ornate holders. The background features a large, glowing blue orb and a dark, rocky landscape.

Saturday Review of Literature ,1925 Magic's Translations Margaret J. Wiener, 2025-04-04 Do you believe in magic

This familiar question suggests magic is easily recognized but unreal In Magic's Translations Margaret J Wiener argues that such views are shaped by historical power struggles especially in Europe's relations with the wider world Focusing on nineteenth and twentieth century Dutch interactions with Indonesians Wiener reveals how colonial agents framed unfamiliar practices practitioners and objects as magic rendering distinct phenomena fundamentally alike and advancing colonizing projects that deemed magic antithetical to reason and reality While colonial authorities including ethnologists mobilized the concept of magic to differentiate Europeans from Indonesians nature from culture reason from superstition and fact from fetish their efforts produced unexpected outcomes Some Indonesian artifacts and acts not only retained their power but invaded European experiences As anthropologists were among the key translators of magic throughout the world Wiener intersperses accounts of magic's translations in the Indies with reflections on anthropology's ongoing engagement with the concept She demonstrates that magic became an object of expert knowledge political control and popular fascination rather than a self evident category or relic of naïve belief JACT Review ,1999 New York Theatre Critics' Reviews ,1995
