

Sensor Calibration

The levels for the speed sensor and gyro sensor are raised through automatic learning. When a tire is replaced, it is necessary to erase the speed learning data and relearn it.

1 Press the NAVI MENU key.

This displays the navi menu.

2 Touch Navi Voice/Others.

3 Touch Enter in "Sensor Calibration".

This displays the sensor correction status screen.

4 Touch Erase in "Speed" or "Gyro".

5 Touch Yes.

The sensor learning data deletion is complete. Then, check "Precision of Your Car's Location and Automatic Correction" (P205) and correct.

CAUTION

- Deleted data cannot be restored.

Precision of Your Car's Location and Automatic Correction

- When sensor learning data has been deleted, you can drive at a constant speed for a while some place with a good view and make left and right turns at junctions to speed up the speed and gyro automatic learning.
- When you drive at a constant speed on a straight road with good GPS reception, the automatic speed correction operates and when you repeatedly turn left and right at junctions, the gyro automatic correction operates. The operation of the automatic speed and gyro learning gradually improves the precision of your car's location.

ADVICE

- In some cases, you may need to drive a few hours before the precision of your car's location stabilizes. Driving somewhere with a good view, such as a freeway, makes it easier for the automatic correction to work.
