Installation and the Moving Image Catherine Elwes, 2015-05-12 Film and video create an illusory world a reality elsewhere and a material presence that both dramatizes and demystifies the magic trick of moving pictures Beginning in the 1960s artists have explored filmic and televisual phenomena in the controlled environments of galleries and museums drawing on multiple antecedents in cinema television and the visual arts This volume traces the lineage of moving image installation through architecture painting sculpture performance expanded cinema film history and countercultural film and video from the 1960s 1970s and 1980s Sound is given due attention along with the shift from analogue to digital issues of spectatorship and the insights of cognitive science Woven into this genealogy is a discussion of the procedural political theoretical and ideological positions espoused by artists from the mid twentieth century to the present Historical constructs such as Peter Gidal's structural materialism Maya Deren's notion of vertical and horizontal time and identity politics are reconsidered in a contemporary context and intersect with more recent thinking on representation subjectivity and installation art The book is written by a critic curator and practitioner who was a pioneer of British video and feminist art politics in the late 1970s Elwes writes engagingly of her encounters with works by Anthony McCall Gillian Wearing David Hall and Janet Cardiff and her narrative is informed by exchanges with other practitioners While the book addresses the key formal theoretical and historical parameters of moving image installation it ends with a question What's in it for the artist

Second Life
Amanda Hess, 2025-05-06 Second Life is a tender perceptive account of pregnancy and early motherhood and a stylish confrontation with the demented landscape of digital parenting content Anna Wiener author of Uncanny Valley As an internet culture critic for The New York Times Amanda Hess had built a reputation among readers as a sharp observer of the seductions and manipulations of online life But when Hess discovered she was pregnant with her first child she found herself unexpectedly rattled by a digital identity crisis of her own In the summer of 2020 a routine ultrasound detected a mysterious abnormality in Hess's baby Without hesitation she reached for her phone looking for answers But rather than allaying her anxieties her search sucked her into the destabilizing morass of the internet and she was vulnerable more than ever to conspiracy myth judgment commerce and obsession As Hess documents her escalating relationship with the digital world she identifies how technologies act as portals to troubling ideologies ethical conflicts and existential questions and she illuminates how the American traditions of eugenics surveillance and hyper individualism are recycled through these shiny products for a new generation of parents and their children At once funny heartbreaking and surreal Second Life is a journey that spans a network of fertility apps prenatal genetic tests gender reveal videos rare disease Facebook groups freebirth influencers and hospital reality shows Hess confronts technology's distortions as they follow her through pregnancy and into her son's early life The result is a critical record of our digital age that reveals the unspoken ways our lives are being fractured and reconstituted by technology
