PERSIAN LETTERS

MONTESQUIEU was born Charles-Louis de Secondat in 1689 at the château of La Brède, south of Bordeaux. He was educated by the Oratoriens at the Collège de Juilly in Meaux and completed a law degree at the University of Bordeaux in 1708. After a few years in Paris he returned to Bordeaux in order to manage the family estates following the death of his father. He married Jeanne Lartigue, a practising Calvinist, with whom he had three children. In 1716 he joined the Academy of Bordeaux and was its director for the year in 1718. On the death of his uncle he inherited the title of baron de Montesquieu and the post of président à mortier at the Parlement of Bordeaux where he had begun his career in law. From an early age he manifested a ceaseless intellectual curiosity and devotion to extensive scholarship. He pursued through systematic investigation the numerous factors that shape societies and an understanding of them. In 1721 he published the Persian Letters (Lettres persanes), anonymously in Holland; his authorship, which became an open secret, gained him entry to the literary salons of Paris, where he lived from 1721 to 1725. Elected to the Académie Française in 1728, he sold his judicial office and travelled around Europe for three years. On his return he continued his scholarly research. His work on the ancient Romans addressed fundamental issues in the philosophy of history and prompted thinking about forms of government that would inform his later work. In 1748 his major work, The Spirit of the Laws (De l'esprit des lois), was published in Geneva. Despite progressive eye-trouble, he published a Defence of the Spirit of the Laws in which he repudiated the allegation that he was a deist, and began work on 'An Essay on Taste' for Diderot's Encyclopaedia. In 1754 he published an extensively revised version of the Persian Letters, acknowledging authorship for the first time. He died in Paris in 1755.

MARGARET MAULDON has worked as a translator since 1987. For Oxford World's Classics she has translated Zola's L'Assommoir, Stendhal's The Charterhouse of Parma, Maupassant's Bel-Ami, Constant's Adolphe, Huysmans's Against Nature (winner of the Scott Moncrieff prize for translation, 1999), Flaubert's Madame Bovary, and Diderot's Rameau's Nephew and First Satire.

ANDREW KAHN is Fellow and Tutor in Russian at St Edmund Hall, Oxford, and University Lecturer in Russian at the University of Oxford. He works on the literature and history of ideas of the European and Russian Enlightenments. He is the editor of the Cambridge Companion to Pushkin (2007), and of Pushkin's The Queen of Spades and Other Stories for Oxford World's Classics. His most recent book is Pushkin's Lyric Intelligence (2008).

Letters of a Peruvian Woman Françoise de Graffigny, 2009-01-08 It has taken me a long time my dearest Aza to fathom the cause of that contempt in which women are held in this country Zilia an Inca Virgin of the Sun is captured by the Spanish conquistadores and brutally separated from her lover Aza She is rescued and taken to France by D terville a nobleman who is soon captivated by her One of the most popular novels of the eighteenth century the Letters of a Peruvian Woman recounts Zilia s feelings on her separation from both her lover and her culture and her experience of a new and alien society Fran oise de Graffigny s bold and innovative novel clearly appealed to the contemporary taste for the exotic and the timeless appetite for love stories But by fusing sentimental fiction and social commentary she also created a new kind of heroine defined by her intellect as much as her feelings The novel s controversial ending calls into question traditional assumptions about the role of women both in fiction and society and about what constitutes civilization ABOUT THE SERIES For over 100 years Oxford World s Classics has made available the widest range of literature from around the globe Each affordable volume reflects Oxford s commitment to scholarship providing the most accurate text plus a wealth of other valuable features including expert introductions by leading authorities helpful notes to clarify the text up to date bibliographies for further study and much more

On Tyranny and the Global Legal Order Aoife O'Donoghue, 2021-10-07 Since classical antiquity debates about tyranny tyrannicide and preventing tyranny s re emergence have permeated governance discourse Yet within the literature on the global legal order tyranny is missing This book creates a taxonomy of tyranny and poses the question could the global legal order be tyrannical This taxonomy examines the benefits attached to tyrannical governance for the tyrant considers how illegitimacy and fear establish tyranny asks how rule by law silence and beneficence aid in governing a tyranny It outlines the modalities of tyranny scale imperialism gender and bureaucracy Where it is determined that a tyranny exists the book examines the extent of the right and duty to effect tyrannicide As the global legal order gathers ever more power to itself it becomes imperative to ask whether tyranny lurks at the global scale The Idea of Europe Shane Weller, 2021-06-03 This book offers a new critical history of the idea of Europe from classical antiquity to the present day

Montesquieu's Political Economy Andrew Scott Bibby, 2016-04-29 This book provides an introductory survey of Montesquieu s economic ideas and a fresh examination of the longstanding controversy over the meaning and purpose of Montesquieu s The Spirit of the Laws No one doubts that Montesquieu helped to formulate the core liberal ideals at the heart of the development of liberal republican traditions on both the European and American continents Yet questions remain about Montesquieu s political intentions In particular the view of Montesquieu as a conscious proponent of commercial modernity has come under increasing scrutiny While not ignoring recent scholarly challenges Bibby moves the debate forward by uncovering the many hidden connections between commerce liberty and religion in The Spirit of the Laws A failure to make these connections Bibby argues has led to significant interpretative errors This book attempts to eliminate one source of the confusion which continues to cloud Montesquieu s political philosophy in obscurity Interculturality in

Fragments Fred Dervin, 2022-10-28 This book continues the author's long term reflections over 20 years of scholarship and experience in intercultural communication education around the fascinating and yet contestable notion of interculturality in education. As an unstable and polysemic notion, interculturality deserves to be opened up again and again, and there is a need to engage with it continuously, observing, critiquing, and problematizing its complexities. This book urges researchers, students, and interculturalists to take the time to think carefully and deeply about interculturality and to find inspiration beyond the dominating Western ideological world of intercultural research and education. This book starts from short fragments written by the author for himself over a period of one year. In these short statements and notes about interculturality, the author reflects creatively on the questions he had in mind at the time of writing and offers some temporary answers which in turn are questioned and revised. Over the 1000 fragments that the author wrote, he selected about 100 for which he wrote commentaries referring to and reviewing current research and debates on interculturality in the process. One of the specificities of the book is to be highly multidisciplinary to help us get used to looking for inspiration in other fields of research and creativity. The fragments can be read randomly; the reader may open the book at any page and pick any fragment. The author suggests reading each individual fragment first and then the accompanying explanatory texts. While reading them, the reader is also invited to reflect on any potential addition to what the author wrote, anything they might disagree with, anything they would have wanted to discuss with the author. Questions have been added at the end of each chapter for readers to reflect on and to enrich their own criticality and reflexivity. The book serves as continuous guidance for engaging with interculturality. The Cambridge Edition of the Correspondence of John Cleland John Cleland, 2024-06-13

The first collected edition of John Cleland's correspondence, this volume provides a rare insight into a significant literary life and into jobbing authorship in the eighteenth century. All known letters by and to Cleland are included, entire, alongside letter excerpts, diary entries, and documents in which he is discussed by friends, enemies, family members, and distant acquaintances. The volume also includes Cleland's christening record, a manuscript essay composed by Cleland in French on Litterateurs, and the will of Cleland's mother Lucy, whose many codicils reveal her determination to prevent her profligate son from squandering her fortune. Interspersed throughout are telling remarks about Cleland from figures such as Alexander Pope, Samuel Foote, Claude Pierre Patu, and most revealing and intriguing of all, vignettes by the great biographer James Boswell. The volume makes several new attributions and demonstrates for the first time the extent of Cleland's participation in the European Enlightenment. Montesquieu Catherine Volpilhac-Augier, 2023-01-26 Since the last biography of Montesquieu in English, Shackleton (Oxford, 1961), Montesquieu scholarship has been entirely renewed, culminating in a critical edition of his complete works in twenty-two volumes that is nearing completion. Since 1998, this new edition of the complete works has considerably modified what was known about Montesquieu and his procedures, eliciting new translations and further studies. Additionally, several thousand manuscript pages were made public in 1994 and continue to generate further scholarly inquiry.

The author of this compact biography originally published by Gallimard 2017 is the director of the critical edition of the works and the most qualified scholar of Montesquieu At once an introduction to Montesquieu s thought and a synthesis of current knowledge about his life and work this book is full of insights and revised judgements about Montesquieu and how his political philosophy helped thrust Enlightenment onto the European agenda Freedom's Progress? Gerard Casey,2021-10-04 In Freedom s Progress Gerard Casey argues that the progress of freedom has largely consisted in an intermittent and imperfect transition from tribalism to individualism from the primacy of the collective to the fragile centrality of the individual person and of freedom Such a transition is he argues neither automatic nor complete nor are relapses to tribalism impossible The reason for the fragility of freedom is simple the importance of individual freedom is simply not obvious to everyone Most people want security in this world not liberty Libertarians writes Max Eastman used to tell us that the love of freedom is the strongest of political motives but recent events have taught us the extravagance of this opinion The herd instinct and the yearning for paternal authority are often as strong Indeed the tendency of men to gang up under a leader and submit to his will is of all political traits the best attested by history The charm of the collective exercises a perennial magnetic attraction for the human spirit In the 20th century Fascism Bolshevism and National Socialism were Casey argues each of them a return to tribalism in one form or another and many aspects of our current Western welfare states continue to embody tribalist impulses Thinkers you would expect to feature in a history of political thought feature in this book Plato Aristotle Machiavelli Locke Mill and Marx but you will also find thinkers treated in Freedom s Progress who don t usually show up in standard accounts Johannes Althusius Immanuel Kant William Godwin Max Stirner Joseph Proudhon Mikhail Bakunin Pyotr Kropotkin Josiah Warren Benjamin Tucker and Auberon Herbert Freedom s Progress also contains discussions of the broader social and cultural contexts in which politics takes its place with chapters on slavery Christianity the universities cities Feudalism law kingship the Reformation the English Revolution and what Casey calls Twentieth Century Tribalisms Bolshevism Fascism and National Socialism and an extensive chapter on human prehistory Western Art and the Wider World Paul Wood,2013-12-16 Western Art and the Wider World explores the evolving relationship between the Western canon of art as it has developed since the Renaissance and the art and culture of the Islamic world the Far East Australasia Africa and the Americas Explores the origins influences and evolving relationship between the Western canon of art as it has developed since the Renaissance and the art and culture of the Islamic world the Far East Australasia Africa and the Americas Makes the case for world art long before the fashion of globalization Charts connections between areas of study in art that long were considered in isolation such as the Renaissance encounter with the Ottoman Empire the influence of Japanese art on the 19th century French avant garde and of African art on early modernism as well as debates about the relation of contemporary art to the past Written by a well known art historian and co editor of the landmark Art in Theory volumes Montesquieu ,2020-11-19 A number of Montesquieu s lesser known discourses dissertations and dialogues are made available to a wider audience for the first time fully translated and annotated in English. The views they incorporate on politics, economics, science, and religion shed light on the overall development of his political and moral thought. They enable us better to understand not just Montesquieu's importance as a political philosopher studying forms of government but also his stature as a moral philosopher seeking to remind us of our duties while injecting deeper moral concerns into politics and international relations. They reveal that Montesquieu's vision for the future was remarkably clear: more science and less superstition; greater understanding of our moral duties; enhanced concern for justice; increased emphasis on moral principles in the conduct of domestic and international politics; toleration of conflicting religious viewpoints; commerce over war and liberty over despotism as the proper goals for mankind.

The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation Peter France, 2000. This guide highlights the place of translation in our culture, encouraging awareness of the process of translating and the choices involved, making the translator more visible. Concentrating on major writers and works, it covers translations out of many languages from Greek to Hungarian, Korean to Turkish. For some works, e.g. Virgil's Aeneid, which have been much translated, the discussion is historical and critical, showing how translation has evolved over the centuries and bringing out the differences between versions. Elsewhere, with less familiar literatures, the Guide examines the extent to which translation has done justice to the range of work available.

Dialogue and Decolonization Monika Kirloskar-Steinbach, 2023-11-16. By bringing together philosophers whose work on political philosophy, intellectual history, and world philosophies pushes the boundaries of conventional scholarship, this collaborative collection opens up space in political philosophy for new approaches. Garrick Cooper, Sudipta Kaviraj, Charles W. Mills, and Sor-hoon Tan respond to the challenges James Tully raises for comparative political thought. Arranged around Tully's opening chapter, they demonstrate the value of critical dialogue and point to the different attempts cultures make to understand their experiences. Through the use of methods from various disciplines and cultural contexts, each interlocutor exemplifies the transformative power of genuine democratic dialogue across philosophical traditions. Together, they call for a radical reorientation of conceptual and intellectual readings from intellectual history, including the Afro-modern political tradition, Indigenous philosophies, and the lived experiences of societies in Asia. This is an urgent methodological provocation for anyone interested in the ethical, conceptual, and political challenges of political thought today.

Montesquieu David W. Carrithers, Philip Stewart, 2020-11-19. The first complete translation of twenty-one texts by Montesquieu presenting his views on politics, science, economics, and religion.

Utopian Imagination and Eighteenth Century Fiction Christine Rees, 2014-09-19. Utopian fiction was a particularly rich and important genre during the eighteenth century. It was during this period that a relatively new phenomenon appeared: the merging of utopian writing per se with other fictional genres such as the increasingly dominant novel. However, while early modern and nineteenth and twentieth century utopias have been the focus of much attention, the eighteenth century has largely been neglected.

Utopian Imagination and Eighteenth Century Fiction

combines these major areas of interest interpreting some of the most fascinating and innovative fictions of the period and locating them in a continuing tradition of utopian writing which stretches back through the Renaissance to the Ancient World. Beginning with a survey of the recurrent topics in utopian writing: power structures in the state, money, food, sex, the role of women, birth, education and death, the book brings together canonical eighteenth century texts containing powerful utopian elements such as Robinson Crusoe, Gulliver's Travels and Rasselas and less familiar works to examine the reworking of these topics in a new context. The unfamiliar texts including Gaudenzio di Lucca are described in detail to give students an idea of relevant material across a broad area. A section is devoted specifically to women, writes an area which has become the focus of attention. The mixture of texts provides a useful cross reference for students tackling the subject from various perspectives and the comprehensive bibliography provides a valuable tool for those with general or specific interests.
