

Winter Solstice Celebrated

Why do some people celebrate the winter solstice by lighting bonfires?

- It is thought that the ancient people built bonfires to mark and brave the summer and winter solstices.
- These events in the annual solar calendar were important to ancient cultures.

This year's winter solstice will take place on Wednesday, 12th December.

But, isn't it already winter? It may already seem that winter has arrived in the UK due to the cold weather and the dark nights creeping in earlier.

However, whether you think it is winter or not depends on which way of winter you look at.

If you're looking at astronomy, to calculate the seasons, then winter starts on 12th December and runs through until the last day of February.

Those who follow astronomy - the study of space - calculate the seasons depending on the amount of direct sunlight a hemisphere receives. Using this calendar, winter begins on 12th December instead.

It is the shortest day of the year and is known as the winter solstice. On this day in London, there will only be around 7 hours and 45 minutes of daylight.

This happens because the Earth is tilted on its axis. As the Earth journeys around the Sun, it is either tilted towards or away from the Sun.

During the winter solstice, the North Pole is tilted its furthest away from the Sun.

Meanwhile, in the southern hemisphere, the opposite is happening. The days are at their longest and the nights are short.

Once the winter solstice has happened, the days will begin to get longer again in the southern hemisphere. They will keep getting longer until the summer solstice which will be on 21st June 2023.

Every year following the winter solstice, some people gather at Stonehenge to witness the mid-day's sunrise. Celebrating the start of the longer and lighter days, they take part in what is thought to be an ancient tradition.

This year, as well as people being allowed to go to the site, the event will be shown on a live feed on the internet. Sunrise on the 12th will be at 08:06 a.m.

So, what do you think? Will you be celebrating the winter solstice this year?

Glossary

Solstice	The later part of the Stone Age period.
Astronomy	The study which happens within a year related to the Sun.
Hemisphere	A branch of science that is related to the Earth's position.

Hanukkah 2022

What is a Hanukkah?

- A Hanukkah is a ceremonial object designed to hold candles or lights. It is also sometimes referred to as a Menorah.
- On each day of Hanukkah, a candle is added and lit. The first to be lit is the Shemaiah which is used to light all of the other candles.

This year, the eight-day Jewish festival of lights known as Hanukkah is being celebrated from sundown on 12th December until 19th December.

We wanted to learn more about the festival so we spoke to Shelly, the lead on all about how she will be celebrating Hanukkah this year.

How you tell us more about how you mark Hanukkah with your friends and family? Hanukkah celebrations are always a time to be with family, friends and our community, either at communal events at the synagogue or by lighting Hanukkah candles together.

Every year, we get together as a family over the eight nights and light our Hanukkah candles - one additional candle for each night.

We eat latkes, chicken and drumsticks as many presents - which also includes giving Hanukkah gelt - and play with drevel (a toy for the children in the family) and we sing songs over the lights celebration.

We sing lots of Hanukkah songs together and one of the most important songs, Shema Yisroel, is a

What do you find most special about Hanukkah?

It's really special lighting our beautiful Hanukkah, with all lamps. It is very special to see it burning bright and we are proud to put it in our windows, so shining to the outside world. I always look forward to a just drevel, of course!

What are you most looking forward to about this year's Hanukkah?

This year will be really special as we are going to have lots of family and friends over for Hanukkah lighting and a party, unlike other years when it was a bit drevel, due to interactive

Hanukkah. Every year is a gift of gift. Hanukkah.
