Public Service Ethics James S. Bowman, Jonathan P. West, 2014-01-21 Ethics in all its exemplary and exhausting forms matters It deals with the most gripping question in public life What is the right thing to do In Public Service Ethics Individual and Institutional Responsibilities James Bowman and Jonathan West examine individual centered and organization focused ethics applying ideas and ideals from both to contemporary dilemmas The authors take on controversial issues from whistle blowing incidents to corruption expos s to explain how they arise and suggest what can be done about them They start with the conceptual tools students need to evaluate an ethical dilemma then analyze individual decision making strategies and go on to assess institutional ethics programs The emphasis is not only on the how to but also on the why The ultimate goal is to bolster students confidence and prepare them for the ethical problems they will face in the future by equipping them with the conceptual frameworks and context to approach thorny questions and behave ethically

Life by Algorithms Catherine Besteman, Hugh Gusterson, 2019-05-23 Computerized processes are everywhere in our society They are the automated phone messaging systems that businesses use to screen calls the link between student standardized test scores and public schools access to resources the algorithms that regulate patient diagnoses and reimbursements to doctors The storage sorting and analysis of massive amounts of information have enabled the automation of decision making at an unprecedented level Meanwhile computers have offered a model of cognition that increasingly shapes our approach to the world The proliferation of robo-processes is the result as editors Catherine Besteman and Hugh Gusterson observe in this rich and wide ranging volume which features contributions from a distinguished cast of scholars in anthropology communications international studies and political science Although automatic processes are designed to be engines of rational systems the stories in Life by Algorithms reveal how they can in fact produce absurd inflexible or even dangerous outcomes Joining the call for algorithmic transparency the contributors bring exceptional sensitivity to everyday sociality into their critique to better understand how the perils of modern technology affect finance medicine education housing the workplace food production public space and emotions not as separate problems but as linked manifestations of a deeper defect in the fundamental ordering of our society Contributors Catherine Besteman Alex Blanchette Robert W Gehl Hugh Gusterson Catherine Lutz Ann Lutz Fernandez Joseph Masco Sally Engle Merry Keesha M Middlemass Noelle Stout Susan J Terrio

Degrees and Pedigrees Michael T. Nietzel, 2017-08-10 The book answers the questions of how and where America educates its leading chief executive officers Where are America's top executives educated What do they study Do they typically attend the nation's most elite colleges Or do they like millions of other students choose colleges because of reasons like proximity cost and state pride How important are advanced degrees to their success Is the MBA a prerequisite for becoming a CEO I address these questions based on a study of 344 of the country's highest profile CEOs selected to represent a wide range of organizations and businesses The book will establish a theme that the majority of America's most high powered CEOs did not attend elite colleges universities or earn an MBA or graduate from highly selective institutions Certainly a significant number did so and were advantaged by the opportunity but more often they were able to fashion for themselves a high quality education at a rich array of institutions public and private regional and flagship small and large religious and secular What proves more important than what colleges these leading executives attended is the kinds of deep relationships and mentored experiences they developed I illuminate these experiences through several vignettes in each chapter
