The Voice Catchers Joseph Turow, 2021-05-18 Your voice as biometric data and how marketers are using it to manipulate you Only three decades ago it was inconceivable that virtually entire populations would be carrying around wireless phones wherever they went or that peoples exact locations could be tracked by those devices We now take both for granted Even just a decade ago the idea that individuals voices could be used to identify and draw inferences about them as they shopped or interacted with retailers seemed like something out of a science fiction novel Yet a new business sector is emerging to do exactly that The first in depth examination of the voice intelligence industry The Voice Catchers exposes how artificial intelligence is enabling personalized marketing and discrimination through voice analysis Amazon and Google have numerous patents pertaining to voice profiling and even now their smart speakers are extracting and using voice prints for identification and more Customer service centers are already approaching every caller based on what they conclude a caller's voice reveals about that person's emotions, sentiments, and personality often in real time. In fact, many scientists believe that a person's weight, height, age, and race, not to mention any illnesses they may have, can also be identified from the sound of that individual's voice. Ultimately, not only marketers but also politicians and governments may use voice profiling to infer personal characteristics for selfish interests and not for the benefit of a citizen or of society as a whole. Leading communications scholar Joseph Turow places the voice intelligence industry in historical perspective, explores its contemporary developments, and offers a clarion call for regulating this rising surveillance regime. Living in Singapore (17th Edition Reference Guide) Melinda Murphy, Katie Taylor, Available for pre order now. People in business ecosystems are more in number and diverse in perspective, discussed in business school or written about than often understood. It is foolhardy to believe that a senior leader can ignore or work around these people who possess power and influence over the business and the enterprise. It is up to supervisors, managers, executives, and independent directors to set priorities and make value-based decisions that constructively benefit all stakeholder groups invested in their business. When asked about their experiences on the people side of business, most businesspersons respond from their experiences with the human resources department. In contrast this book advances the idea of people in business as more than simply a focus on employees Leaders with a holistic view realize the existence of eight major stakeholder groups diverse in makeup and ready to advocate for their own interests While its story is at first quite intimidating laying out the competing agendas of stakeholders and the potential chaos that might ensue this book will not leave the reader hanging it serves up new and proprietary principles never published before that equip business leaders to survive and thrive My TV for Seniors Michael R. Heinemann,2022-10-13 This book shows stationary retail a way to reinvent itself after Corona in order to be able to survive against the strong competition of online retail The focus is on the central issues that will shape the retail of the future For example brick and mortar retail in particular must now work with intelligent systems based on data and adopt or even surpass methods that the large online marketplaces have been using successfully for a very long time In this regard artificial intelligence also plays a major role in retail This is not just about automation and robots taking over tasks but also about instruments and machines being able to learn and draw conclusions themselves in all retail functions This is becoming increasingly difficult because our shopping and search behavior is constantly changing Therefore a customer should receive intelligent recommendations in the store which are also based on his already known interests and behavior patterns Gerrit Heinemann shows how intelligent action can save stationary retail in city centres and shopping centres The content From stationary Retail to intelligent Retail Threats to the stationary retail trade Basic requirements and manifestations of
