Library of Congress has introduced a succession of distinguished contributors to children's literature. First presented in 1963, many of the lectures included herein were given in observance of National Children's Book Week, and the authors have much to say about the genesis of their own writing for children. They speak convincingly about the influences and impulses that account for the qualities that define their books and about creative writing and children's literature in general. All the authors share a conviction about the worth and complexity of children's literature, their respect for the children in their audience, and their delight in feeding children's power of imagination.
