

A photograph of three people standing on a large, reddish-brown rock in a landscape with hills and a blue sky with clouds. The person in the center is wearing a dark blue shirt and shorts, and is carrying a large, light-colored bag on their back. The person on the left is wearing a white shirt and dark shorts. The person on the right is wearing a light-colored shirt and dark pants. The background shows a hilly landscape with green vegetation and a blue sky with white clouds.

Book Alchemy Rain Forest Resilience Twenty First:

Alchemy in the Rain Forest Jerry K. Jacka, 2015-10-23 In Alchemy in the Rain Forest Jerry K Jacka explores how the indigenous population of Papua New Guinea's highlands struggle to create meaningful lives in the midst of extreme social conflict and environmental degradation Drawing on theories of political ecology place and ontology and using ethnographic environmental and historical data Jacka presents a multilayered examination of the impacts large scale commercial gold mining in the region has had on ecology and social relations Despite the deadly interclan violence and widespread pollution brought on by mining the uneven distribution of its financial benefits has led many Porgerans to call for further development This desire for increased mining Jacka points out counters popular portrayals of indigenous people as innate conservationists who defend the environment from international neoliberal development Jacka's examination of the ways Porgerans search for common ground between capitalist and indigenous ways of knowing and being points to the complexity and interconnectedness of land indigenous knowledge and the global economy in Porgera and beyond Pacific Realities Laurent Dousset, Méliissa Nayral, 2018-11-16 Throughout the Pacific region people are faced with dramatic changes often described as processes of glocalization individuals and groups espouse multilayered forms of identity in which global modes of thinking and doing are embedded in renewed perceptions of local or regional specificities Consequently new forms of resistance and resilience the processes by which communities attempt to regain their original social political and economic status and structure after disruption or displacement emerge Through case studies from across the Pacific which transcend the conventional local global dichotomy this volume aims to explore these complex and interwoven phenomena from a new perspective Mining and Development in Sierra Leone Robert Jan Pijpers, 2024-10-30 Mining and Development in

Sierra Leone examines how different actors in Sierra Leone use the effects of large scale mining to navigate and transform the challenging conditions of life The book offers an in depth analysis of the processes of development and change that mark resource extraction environments globally Across the world resource extraction is assigned an important role in development agendas Yet a key question is how development opportunities are given shape and accessed and how extraction's negative impacts are dealt with in actual politics and practices Set in the Northern Province of Sierra Leone during a global mining boom this book shows how mining cum development's multifaceted effects materialize By taking the micro politics of large scale mining as its principal focus the book analyzes a range of the most perplexing phenomena of life in Sierra Leone and scrutinizes the intricate and contentious processes of change unfolding in mining environments Mining and Development in Sierra Leone goes beyond promise or problem dichotomies offers key insights into the struggle for progress that characterizes the mining development nexus and provides innovative understandings of the resourceful ways in which different actors negotiate change and navigate uncertainty This book will be of interest to students and scholars working on resource extraction large scale investments globalization and development as well as to development practitioners mining professionals and policymakers Roots of Power Michael Sheridan, 2023-04-21 Roots of Power tells five stories of plants people property politics peace and protection in tropical societies In Cameroon French Polynesia Papua New Guinea St Vincent and Tanzania dracaena and cordyline plants are simultaneously property rights institutions markers of social organization and expressions of life force and vitality In addition to their localized roles in forming landscapes and societies these plants mark multiple boundaries and demonstrate deep historical connections across much of the planet s tropics These plants deep roots in society and culture have made them the routes through which postcolonial agrarian societies have negotiated both social and cultural continuity and change This book is a multi sited ethnographic political ecology of ethnobotanical institutions It uses five parallel case studies to investigate the central phenomenon of boundary plants and establish the linkages among the case studies via both ancient and relatively recent demographic transformations such as the Bantu expansion across tropical Africa the Austronesian expansion into the Pacific and the colonial system of plantation slavery in the Black Atlantic Each case study is a social ecological system with distinctive characteristics stemming from the ways that power is organized by kinship and gender social ranking or racialized capitalism This book contributes to the literature on property rights institutions and land management by arguing that tropical boundary plants social entanglements and cultural legitimacy make them effective foundations for development policy Formal recognition of these institutions could reduce contradiction conflict and ambiguity between resource managers and states in postcolonial societies and contribute to sustainable livelihoods and landscapes This book will appeal to scholars and students of environmental anthropology political ecology ethnobotany landscape studies colonial history and development studies and readers will benefit from its demonstration of the comparative method Recolonizing Africa Mariam Mniga, 2024-03-19 Explaining how the legacy of colonialism and the nature of the liberal economy play a significant role in the development of Africa today keeping Africa poor and dependent this book explains how trade liberalization deregulation and privatization had opened doors for the New Scramble for Africa Green technology and the high demand for electronics have intensified Africa s role as a supplier of raw materials natural resources and cheap labor and as a large market of more than one billion people in the global economy This unique ethnographic study with elements of autoethnography starts with the author s journey to Bulyanhulu Tanzania one of the largest gold mines in Africa and moves to a broader analysis that reveals the systemic violence of resource extraction Focus groups interviews and observations demonstrate the lack of distributive justice and intersectional equality in the process of land acquisition and resource extraction described by villagers in racialized and gendered terms as exploitative and part of a racist system that fails to provide a fair distribution of benefits to local people Recolonizing Africa examines resource conflicts among local people governments and transnational corporations from Europe North America and Asia revealing how global systemic violence and irresponsible business practices precipitate economic inequality between African and financially rich nations threatening peace and security indigenous rights and the environment In Search of the Rain Forest Candace Slater,2004-03-22 Collection of essays offers a multi layered understanding of the social complexities of rainforest practice and representation Chico Mendes Susan DeStefano,1992 Relates the story of the rubber tapper who was murdered because of his protest movement to stop the destruction of the Amazon rain forest Secrets of the Rainforest, Single Copy, First Chapters Edward Myers,1999 Tangled in the Rain Forest , Deep in the Rain Forest Collection Saviour Pirotta,2001-05 Rain Forests Mary Pope Osborne,Will Osborne,2001-09-25 A reference guide to the rainforest accompanied by a Magic Tree House Amazon adventure Rain Forest Elizabeth Marston,1969 How to Survive in the Rain Forest Angela Royston,2013-01-01 Colorful photographs introduce readers to the vibrant habitat known as a rain forest Rain forests are populated with thousands of different animals including growling panthers sneaky spiders and poisonous snakes Readers will learn all about this fascinating environment as well as important survival techniques for coping in it Rain Forests: Proving Their Worth [videorecording]. ,1990
