Moral Believing Animals Human Personhood And Culture:

Moral, Believing Animals Christian Smith, 2003-07-10 What kind of animals are human beings And how do our visions of the human shape our theories of social action and institutions In Moral Believing Animals Christian Smith advances a creative theory of human persons and culture that offers innovative challenging answers to these and other fundamental questions in sociological cultural and religious theory Smith suggests that human beings have a peculiar set of capacities and proclivities that distinguishes them significantly from other animals on this planet Despite the vast differences in humanity between cultures and across history no matter how differently people narrate their lives and histories there remains an underlying structure of human personhood that helps to order human culture history and narration Drawing on important recent insights in moral philosophy epistemology and narrative studies Smith argues that humans are animals who have an inescapable moral and spiritual dimension They cannot avoid a fundamental moral orientation in life and this says Smith has profound consequences for how sociology must study human beings

Moral, Believing Animals Christian Smith, 2003 What kind of animals are human beings And how do our visions of the human shape our theories of social action and institutions Christian Smith advances a creative theory of human persons and culture that offers innovative challenging answers to these and other fundamental questions in sociological cultural and religious theory What Is a Person?

Christian Smith, 2010 The task of understanding human beings what we ourselves are our constitution and condition is a perennial problem in philosophy and related disciplines Smith argues here that our understanding of human persons is threatened by technological development and capricious academic theories alike seeking to deny or relativize the personhood of humanity Smith's book puts a stake in the ground in defense of a view of the human that is genuinely humanistic in the traditional sense and capable of sustaining with intellectual coherence things like modern human rights and universal benevolence Faith, Family, and Filipino American Community Life

Stephen M. Cherry, 2014-01-03 Stephen M Cherry draws upon a rich set of ethnographic and survey data collected over a six year period to explore the roles that Catholicism and family play in shaping Filipino American community life From the planning and construction of community centers to volunteering at health fairs or protesting against abortion this book illustrates the powerful ways these forces structure and animate not only how first generation Filipino Americans think and feel about their community but how they are compelled to engage it over issues deemed important to the sanctity of the family Revealing more than intimate accounts of Filipino American lives Cherry offers a glimpse of the often hidden but vital relationship between religion and community in the lives of new immigrants and allows speculation on the broader impact of Filipino immigration on the nation The Filipino American community is the second largest immigrant community in the United States and the Philippines is the second largest source of Catholic immigration to this country This ground breaking study outlines how first generation Filipino Americans have the potential to reshape American Catholicism and are already having an impact on American civic life through the engagement of their faith Alone in the World? Van Huyssteen, 2006-04-12 In Alone in the World first given as the 2004 Gifford Lectures at the University of Edinburgh J Wentzel van Huyssteen develops the interdisciplinary dialogue that he set out in The Shaping of Rationality 1999 applying this methodology to the uncharted waters between theological anthropology and paleoanthropology Among other things van Huyssteen argues that scientific notions of human uniqueness help us to ground theological notions of human distinctiveness in flesh and blood embodied experiences and protect us from overly complex theological abstractions regarding the image of God Focusing on the interdisciplinary problem of human origins and distinctiveness van Huyssteen accesses the origins of the embodied human mind through the spectacular prehistoric cave paintings of western Europe fifteen of which are reproduced in color in this volume Boldly connecting the widely separated fields of Christian theology and paleoanthropology through careful interdisciplinary reflection Alone in the World will encourage sustained investigation into the question of human uniqueness Becoming Catholic David Yamane, 2014 The history of Christianity and particularly of Roman Catholicism has been profoundly shaped by conversion for centuries from the first apostles to such prominent modern converts as John Henry Newman St Elizabeth Ann Seton G K Chesterton Thomas Merton and Graham Greene In this work David A Yamane offers a study of Roman Catholic converts in contemporary America Christopher Dawson Joseph T. Stuart, 2022-01-14 The English historian Christopher Dawson 1889 1970 was the first Catholic Studies professor at Harvard University and has been described as one of the foremost Catholic thinkers of modern times Joseph T Stuart argues that through Dawson s study of world cultures he acquired a cultural mind by which he attempted to integrate knowledge according to four implicit rules intellectual architecture boundary thinking intellectual asceticism and intellectual bridges Dawson responded to the cultural fragmentation after the Great War 1914 1918 through this multilayered approach to culture which was an instantiation of John Henry Newman s philosophical habit of mind Stuart demonstrates how Dawson formed his cultural mind practicing an interdisciplinary science of culture involving anthropology sociology history and comparative religion and applied his cultural thinking to problems in politics and education Politics by Other Means William Grassie, 2010-03-31 Politics by Other Means explores profound issues at the interface of contemporary religion and science from a global perspective Brought together and thematically organized in this volume are twenty four essays that were originally presented at conferences in China Germany India Indonesia Iran Israel Lebanon and Sri Lanka Many of the essays are more journalistic in tone and content while others adopt a more academic prose style and approach All are provocative and iconoclastic challenging scientific and religious orthodoxies exploring the great cultural ambivalences at the intersection of the domains of science and religion and holding out the possibility of a transformative politics for addressing the great challenges of the twenty first century To Flourish Or Destruct Christian Smith, 2015-03-23 Christian Smith is a force to conjure with in sociology both in its empirical forays studies of youth and religious life and in its higher reaches of theory where his work sets out to move culture morality and identity to the center of social thought We published his 2011 book What Is a Person to critical plaudits and healthy sales Striking a middle path between extremes of positivist science and relativism Smith's theory of personhood teased out how we can know what is good in personal and social life and what sociology can tell us about human rights and dignity To Flourish or Destruct is a sequel It builds on the earlier book to explore the question of human motivations for action In arguing for a sociological turn in a more humanist direction he sets up a scaffolding for a philosophy of moral realism that makes human flourishing the realization of basic human goods a centerpiece of social science Smith's Aristotelian account of flourishing argues that genuinely investing in the flourishing of other people is a necessary condition for personal flourishing in short learning to love others The guiding assumption is that flourishing is the natural aim of all human life He then turns to the question of evil the absence or privation of what is good with extended consideration of Stalin and Hitler and totalitarianism in general in contrast to his inventory of basic human goods motivations and interests The title poses the question will I flourish or will I destruct On which path is my life moving Christian Scholar's Review, 2007 The Princeton Seminary Bulletin Princeton Theological Seminary, 2006 Vols for 1907 1908 1936 1937 no 1 Commencement issue no 2 Necrology report no 3 News no 4 Catalogue v for 1937 1938 1938 1939 no 1 3 News no 2 Bulletin of courses no 4 Catalogue v for 1939 1940 1944 1945 no 1 4 News no 2 Bulletin of courses no 3 Catalogue v for 1945 1946 no 1 Bulletin of courses no 2 4 News no 3 Catalogue v for 1946 1947 1952 1953 no 1 3 4 News no 2 Catalogue First Things, 2003 Journal for the Scientific Study of Religion, 2004 Official journal of the Society for the Scientific Study of Religion JSSR was founded in 1949 by students of religion and of social science in order to stimulate and communicate significant scientific research on religious institutions and experience Moral Selves, Evil Selves Steven Hitlin, 2008-09-15 People have strong moral beliefs about right and wrong yet commonly act contrary to those beliefs Most of us at some time or another have crossed a moral line and yet still view ourselves as moral and have a clean conscience From intimate relationships to national politics we define ourselves in large part by how we and our friends family and members of our social groups draw moral lines around our actions thoughts and intentions While philosophers have weighed in on these issues for thousands of years social scientists often underplay social life's moral dimension Moral Selves Evil Selves highlights our individual sense of moral coherence and develops a theory of the development and maintenance of this sense in an ambiguous and complicated social world By conceptualizing a social psychology of conscience this book explains how we can properly include individual and societal notions of morality into understanding the self across time and situation Tikkun, 2004 A Shared Morality Craig A. Boyd, 2007 Defends a concept of natural law ethics in a postmodern setting of doubt regarding natural law The Innate Mind Peter Carruthers, Stephen Laurence, Stephen P. Stich, 2005 This is the third volume of a three volume set on The Innate Mind The extent to which cognitive structures processes and contents are innate is one of the central questions concerning the nature of the mind with important implications for debates throughout the human sciences By bringing together the top nativist scholars in philosophy psychology and allied disciplines these volumes provide a comprehensive assessment of nativist thought and a definitive reference point for future nativist inquiry The Innate Mind Volume 3 Foundations and the Future concerns a variety of foundational issues as well as questions about the direction of future nativist research It addresses such questions as What is innateness Is it a confused notion What is at stake in debates between nativists and empiricists What is the relationship between genes and innateness How do innate structures and learned information interact to produce adult forms of cognition e g about number and how does such learning take place What innate abilities underlie the creative aspect of language use and of creative cognition generally What are the innate foundations of human motivation and of human moral cognition In the course of their discussions many of the contributors pose the question whether explicitly or implicitly Where next for nativist research Together these three volumes provide the most intensive and richly cross disciplinary investigation of nativism ever undertaken They point the way toward a synthesis of nativist work that promises to provide a powerful picture of our minds and their place in the natural order

Science and the Spirit James K. A. Smith, Amos Yong, 2010 What might be described as a Pentecostal worldview has become a powerful cultural phenomenon but it is often at odds with modernity and globalization Science and the Spirit confronts questions of spirituality in the face of contemporary science The essays in this volume illustrate how Pentecostalism can usefully engage with technology and scientific discovery and consider what might be distinctive about a Pentecostal dialogue with the sciences The authors conclude that Pentecostals with their unique perspectives on spirituality can contribute new insights for a productive interaction between theology and science

New Systems Theories of World Politics Mathias Albert, Lars-Erik Cederman, Alexander Wendt, 2010-01-13 New Systems Theories of World Politics uses systems theoretical approaches to analyze the structure and dynamics of the international system Drawing from different systems theoretical traditions it argues that the system of world politics can be analyzed in a comprehensive fashion by continuing the pioneering work of theorists like Karl Deutsch

Animal Individuality Elisa Aaltola, 2006 The moral value of animals has become a prominent issue Various theories have been offered to define the moral relation between humans and other animals and in a more political context various viewpoints are in conflict over how animals ought to be treated At the core of the issue is individuality Can animals be individuals Can animals have individual moral value Elisa Aaltola explores these questions on three levels animal definitions ethical theory and context Firstly she analyses what type of ethical understandings common cultural definitions of animals have lead to and whether they should be defined as such and what the practical consequences would be Aaltola maintains that animal individuality is not only a feasible concept but also one that is necessary both in the ontological and the normative analyses concerning other animals
