Seals, 2020-12-10 Linguistic landscapes can play an important role in educating individuals beyond formal pedagogical environments This book argues that anywhere can be a space for people to learn from displayed texts images and other communicated signs and consequently a space where teachable cultural moments are created Following language learning trajectories that exit through the language classroom into city streets public offices museums and monuments this volume presents innovative work demonstrating that anyone can learn from the linguistic landscape that surrounds them Offering a bridge between theoretical research and practical application chapters consider how we make sense of places by understanding how the landscape is used to express claim and contest identities and ideologies In this way Linguistic Landscapes Beyond the Language Classroom highlights the unexpected potential of the informal settings for learning and for teachers to expand their students intercultural experience The Discursive Construction of Identity and Space Among Mobile People Roberta Piazza, 2020-12-10 This book offers a close look at the discourse of and around three socially marginalised and vulnerable groups Irish Travellers Squatters and Homeless people in order to understand more about how individuals within them position themselves vis vis mainstream society It investigates the groups diverse and provisional relationship with space that challenges mainstream society's spatial logic Given that the relationship between mobility space and identity has been explored in migrant contexts Roberta Piazza proposes a reconsideration of this relationship beyond people's movement from one place to another Investigating the space identity nexus among the three groups she highlights how mobility is not solely a cross country phenomenon but a no less crucial and dramatic reality within an individual nation Based on close linguistic analysis of interviews collected over many years Piazza investigates how the participants construct their social and personal identities when talking about themselves and the sites they inhabit drawing on the concepts of heterotopia and non sexual desire Critical Sexuality Studies, Lavender Languages, and Everyday Life Michelle Marzullo, William L. Leap, 2024-09-05 Critical Sexuality Studies CSS and Lavender Languages Linguistics LLL are leading modes of inquiry in two different fields of sexuality studies In this edited collection chapters reveal how these can be combined to produce a new approach to analyzing language use sexuality and gender and discourse on authority and power The book demonstrates how together LLL and CSS iterate each other through their mutual concern with sexuality gender and power especially when considering the materiality of daily life Authors then compare CSS to other fields of sexuality studies to reveal commonalities and tensions that are addressed via the LLL based interventions exemplified in this volume The body of the book organizes examples of Lavender Languages projects around a four part CSS framework with an introductory essay for each section indicating the connections between the CSS theme and the LLL examples The volume concludes with reflections showing how CSS interests in sexuality and power benefits from LLL with its emphasis on socially focused studies of discourse and text Strengthening pathways to future knowledge making this book provides a detailed roadmap for scholarly and activist engagements in language centered critical sexuality studies Queer Correctives Vincent Pak, 2025-07-24 Queer Correctives explores Christian discourses of sex and sexuality in Singapore to argue that metanoia the theological concept of spiritual transformation can be read as a form of neo homophobia that coaxes change in the queer individual In Singapore Christian discourses of sex and sexuality have materialised in the form of testimonials that detail the pain and suffering of homosexuality and how Christianity has been a salve for the tribulations experienced by the storytellers This book freshly engages with Michel Foucault's posthumous and final volume of The History of Sexuality by revitalising his work on biblical metanoia to understand it as a form of neo homophobia Drawing on Foucauldian critical theory and approaches in discourse studies it shows how language is at the centre of this particular iteration of neo homophobia one that no longer finds value in overt expressions of hate and disdain for those with non normative sexualities but relies extensively on seemingly neutral calls for change and transformation in personal lives Queer Correctives takes Singapore as a case study to examine neo homophobic phenomena but its themes of change and transformation embedded in discourse will be relevant for scholars interested in contemporary iterations of Foucault's concepts of discipline and technologies of the self Together with interview data from religious sexual minorities in Singapore it captures a burgeoning form of homophobic discursive practices that eludes mainstream criticism to harm through change and transformation Multilingual Texts and Practices in Early Modern Europe Peter Auger, Sheldon Brammall, 2023-02-15 This collection offers a cross disciplinary exploration of the ways in which multilingual practices were embedded in early modern European literary culture opening up a dynamic dialogue between contemporary multilingual practices and scholarly work on early modern history and literature The nine chapters draw on translation studies literary history transnational literatures and contemporary sociolinguistic research to explore how multilingual practices manifested themselves across different social cultural and institutional spaces The exploration of a diverse range of contexts allows for the opportunity to engage with questions around how individual practices shape national and transnational language practices and literatures the impact of multilingual practices on identity formation and their implications for creative innovations in bilingual and multilingual texts Taken as a whole the collection paves the way for future conversations on what early modern literary studies and present day multilingualism research might learn from one another and the extent to which historical texts might supply precedents for contemporary multilingual practices This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars in sociolinguistics early modern studies in history and literature and comparative literature
